Baby Einstein

I remember when my son was born, a friend and fellow mom recommended Baby Einstein videos ($19.99) with such enthusiasm that I had to run to the store to see what the big deal was for myself. Little did I know that these award-winning developmental videos (also available as DVDs) would become a fun part of our daily routine. Designed specifically for babies and toddlers from birth up, the series marries classical music (Baby Bach and Baby Mozart were two early favorites) and language to images of real-world objects, toys, art and my son's favorites – other babies. Look for two of the newest videos – Baby DaVinci about identifying physical features and Baby Noah, an interactive animal parade around the world. {LF}
